Beam Earth

Previously operating as Iskandia Energy, Beam Earth was founded in 2015 by Stéphane Lamoine, Pierre Levin and Marc Samuel to launch Technology Enhanced Oil (TEO) that raised U.S.$120 million in capital. TEO’s disruptive technology is designed to promoting high ESG standards in the oil and gas fields and was rated in 2020 by MJ Hudson as clean oil, in a category comparable to renewables.

Today, TEO’s scalable process is not only being extended to other oil wells but through Beam Earth’s new hydrogen operating arm Hethos, the team is expanding the process to tap into white/natural hydrogen fields and enabling institutional investors to access the hydrogen revolution through TEO’s successor, Technology Enhanced Hydrogen (TEH).
